| Question #14 | On item 1: we've used red and orange twill in the past when these colors of poplin aren't available. These colors are a very small portion of the twill requirement. I believe FSP is the requestor for them. Will that still be an option if these two colors are found to be cost prohibitive in poplin? I don't want the small portions of red and orange to skew the pricing for the blue and white poplin. |
| Answer #14 | Yes, red & orange twill can be substituted for poplin, if unavailable. |
